

All About Raccoons

Raccoons Life Cycle

Raccoons babies turn to teens then turn to a adult, and then they start to hunt for food like their parents did.

All About Raccoons

First the female give birth and the male goes hunting for food. Between 4-6 weeks old the babies are weaned. At 70 days and start to hunt for food like the male.

Fun facts about raccoons ☐ 🐾🐾

Mating season runs January through March. A little over two months after mating, the female gives birth to a litter of between four to six babies. They are weaned at 70 days old. They start hunting when they are between 9-12 weeks old.

Raccoons hunting for food

These are raccoons hunting for food

These are raccoon hunting in garbage for food

Where raccoons live?

Raccoons live in the North America where we live.

